

THE LOWE FAMILY TREE in the Novels Of Catherine Meadows

c.1805

In 'Buoyz 'N da Hood - Hood & Hoodwinking', Admiral Lord Lowe (Sir Peter) was married to a feisty Spanish Lady, Julia Sanchez, whom he had rescued from the French. Their son, Glendower, also served in the Royal Navy, initially under Captain Colin Darcy of HMS 'Hood'. Their daughter, the socialite the Honourable Miss Petra Lowe, is also mentioned. Admiral Lowe had a younger brother, Sir John Lowe, who served with the British army ('The Emperor's Dragoon').

The naval tradition remained strong in the family. With the outbreak of war the aged Admiral Lord Peter Lowe was called back to active service (Gallipoli). He was married to another Lady Julia. His daughter, Miss Petra, volunteered as a nurse). Lord Peter's brother, Sir John Lowe, meanwhile served in the Army; as did many of the family ('Gallipoli', 'Un Memoirie De la Grande Guerre').

c.1940

In 1940 Lieutenant (late Captain) Peter Lowe served in the Borchester Regiment throughout the second war. He too courted – and later married – a Spanish lady, Senorita Julia Gracia-Ibinez. During the war he was wounded in the eye ('Achtung! Panzerwaffe!')

c.1985

By the time of WWII, Captain Peter Lowe had risen in rank, to become General Sir Peter Lowe. His son, Glendower Lowe, was a Captain in the 1991 Gulf War (Northag & Centag).

c.1989 (alternate timeline)

Admiral Sir Peter Lowe of the Royal Space Force serves as Commonwealth space supremo (Buoyz 'N Da Hood – Space 1989')

c.2024

A descendant of the family's naval branch had risen in rank to become Admiral Sir Peter Lowe. His niece, by marriage, is the writer and journalist, Miss Cassandra Winters ('Buoyz 'N Da Hood - Fire & Flood').

23rd Century

After a successful career as a starship captain, Admiral Sir Peter Lowe of the UFP Starfleet is married to Lady Julia. Their son, Glendower, will rise to become captain of the Excelsior class starship USS 'Hood', having served on its Constitution class predecessor under Captain Colin Darcy ('Buoyz 'N da Hood – In Space - Pride & Persuasion').
